

INTEGRATING A STORY: ENGLISH VOCABULARY AND SAFETY

Mrs. Zaidatul is teaching English words on utensils as well as things used in the kitchen. In the lesson she decides to tell the story of a boy who spilled his drink on the kitchen floor. The teacher wanted to teach about safety in the kitchen and a common incident that was likely to happen at home. Mrs. Zaidatul hoped that her children would be able to think about it and respond with suggestions on what to do in such a situation.

NEGATIVE BRANCH

The teacher prepared little pictures to build the Negative Branch. Her students were very actively responding to her questions. They were able to think and communicate on the danger as well as what steps they would take to avoid the negative effects of the action.
